

Their Wonderlands

curated by They Are Here

The Grey Area is a gallery.
The gallery is a basement.
The basement is a chamber.
The chamber is a forgotten room in a castle.
There are portraits on the walls.
The eyes of the portraits flicker.
The castle is floating above the wood.
The woman floats above the desert.
The daughter has grown taller than the house.
The hairs of the brush grow.
The woman plays with the sea.
The toys are alive.
The pirates and cyborgs are welcomed.
The figures are trapped.
The figures are wrapped.
The warning is ignored.
They descend the stairs.
Time is lost.
They enter the basement.
The basement is a gallery.
The gallery is the Grey Area.

Featuring work by

Alice Anderson, Ayo & Oni Oshodi, Caleb Morrison, Cécile Azoulay, Corinne Felgate, Eloise Fornieles, Emma Hart, Kate Rowles, Mathew Sawyer,
Michael Allen & Daniel Schwitzer, Reka Reisinger, Rostan Tavasiev, Susanne Ludwig and They Are Here.

Exhibition Texts edited by Lily Hall

Private view Sunday 5th December 2010, 1 – 6 pm with a live performance by Eloise Fornieles...

Open Thurs 9th – Sun 12th & Thurs 16th – Sun 19th December 2010, 1 – 5 pm

Grey Area Basement, 31 Queens Rd,
Brighton, East Sussex, BN1 3XA
www.greyareagallery.org

They Are Here is a collective cross-disciplinary practice based in London and Birmingham.
Image: Susanne Ludwig, The wind can always turn, Still from DVD video, 2008.